ABOUT THE CONFERENCE

PHWC

We are pleased to welcome all public health professionals, researchers, and policymakers to the 2nd Edition of the Public Health World Conference (PHWC 2026), scheduled to take place from 17 to 19 July 2026 in Singapore. This global conference aims to provide a dynamic platform for sharing evidence-based strategies, innovative research, and impactful practices that are shaping the future of public health worldwide.

PHWC 2026 will feature an enriching multidisciplinary program that explores key areas such as global health systems, disease prevention, health promotion, environmental health, digital innovations, and policy development. The event will spotlight successful interventions, emerging health threats, and cross-sectoral approaches to building healthier and more resilient communities.

The conference agenda will include plenary lectures, scientific sessions, and poster presentations, offering attendees the opportunity to engage with experts, exchange knowledge, and build meaningful collaborations across sectors and regions.

Join us in Singapore to be part of this vital conversation. Together, let's work toward strengthening global public health and ensuring a healthier future for all.
