Innovation"

ABOUT THE EVENT

The Naturopathy and Natural Therapies World Conference (NNTWC) 2026 from 23-25 August, 2026 in Dubai, will bring together global experts to explore the evolving landscape of natural health. This dynamic event bridges ancient healing traditions with modern science, fostering collaboration, knowledge exchange, and innovation to enhance holistic care and improve patient outcomes worldwide.

Set over three days in Dubai, the conference will feature keynote addresses, scientific sessions, workshops, and discussions on key topics such as naturopathy, nutritional therapies, homeopathy, manual therapies, mind-body practices, and traditional systems like Ayurveda and Acupuncture. These sessions will showcase how natural therapies can complement and enhance modern medicine in addressing global health challenges, from chronic diseases to mental health.

The NNTWC 2026 offers a unique opportunity for networking and collaboration. Attendees will connect with professionals, researchers, and educators in the field of natural health, sharing insights, research, and clinical best practices. This is also a platform for presenting groundbreaking research, with interactive sessions that highlight the latest scientific findings and innovations in naturopathy and natural medicine.

Additionally, the event will address the growing integration of natural therapies into conventional healthcare systems. As natural therapies gain recognition, the conference will explore how these practices can be harmonized with modern medicine to create more comprehensive, patient-centered care models. Discussions will also focus on policy development, sustainability, and strategies to increase access to natural health solutions across diverse communities and cultures worldwide.
